ABSTRACT

Library information services are a huge element in libraries since day time. Their vital role is increasingly becoming a measure of the library's contribution to the transformation and development of a society and the nation at large. The use of Information Communication Technologies (ICTS) has caused a transformation in the users' perception from what is being hosted in the library to how and when services are rendered to fulfill their requests. Transformation has brought a challenge in the field of library information services of dealing with the ever-increasing complexity of information, differentiating useful information from misinformation, and upholding the rising needs expectations of the users. This paper will discuss the available technological opportunities, dimension and its wider implication in every niche of library services having better nurturing nature.
